What drew you together?

As they say, opposites attract! Within is the marriage of the art and the business of design.

And we make a great team, each looking after our favourite aspects.

What are the challenges of being a real-life couple who works together?

Keeping work conversations at work is a constant goal. We try to avoid interfering in each other's work, but that's not always possible.

How different are you from one another, and how does that help sync your work narratives?

We are poles apart as personalities, and our work zones relate to the same. Being a romantic, Sonal is constantly inspired by her travels, books and poetry, reflecting her design sensibilities. On the other hand, my vision and business acumen work well as the driving force at Within, and I love my connections with our team, clients and associates.

How has the synergy between you evolved over the years?

The teething period was quite a struggle, as our ideas and working pace are different. Over the years, we have articulated our work zones, which works well for us and Within. We indeed are each other's most prominent critics and supporters at the same time.

What is the middle ground between the two of you? How do you compromise and get the best of each other's vision for a project?

We always keep an open mind for what's best for the project. There is a team for every project, and all design decisions are collaborative.

A dream project you will want to work on together.

A hilltop or beachfront villa or hotel.

A design destination you will love to visit as partners and a couple?

We are looking forward to a trip to Pennsylvania and New York, alongside Baltimore and New Jersey.

Business Head and Design Head, Within

With a spiritual mind and a relentless passion for design, Sonal brings an impressive bravura to everything. In contrast, Bobbi is a powerhouse in himself and inspires the team of Within with his hands-on approach and eye for detail.
